

Et eunt Homines...

Et eunt homines mirare alta montium, et ingentes fluctis maris, et latissimos lapsus fluminem, et Oceani ambitum et gyros siderum, et relinquunt se ipsos...

Saint Augustine (354-430 AD)

And Men go Forth...

And men go forth and wonder at the heights of mountains, the mighty billows of the sea, the broad tides of rivers, the encircling Ocean and the orbits of the stars, yet themselves they pass over without a thought...

translated from the Latin by Edward Bouverie Pusey 1800-1882

from the "Confessions of St Augustine," Book Ten. Pusey's translation has been slightly amended.
